

As pro-Israel leaders on campuses and in Jewish communities across the country, we call on American Jewish communal leadership to oppose plans by Israel's new government to annex large portions of the West Bank. As Hillel presidents and board members, leaders of pro-Israel groups, minyan leaders, and others who are devoted to Jewish life on campus and beyond, our Jewish values and our commitment to Israel's future compel us to speak out.

Israel's new government, led by Prime Minister Netanyahu, appears determined to move forward with the annexation of large portions of the West Bank. The coalition agreement signed by Israel's two largest factions explicitly allows for annexation to move forward as early as July 1, with the green light of President Trump, pending the final approval of Israel's cabinet or a vote in the Knesset.

While we sign this letter as leaders of different student groups, with different religious practices and different political beliefs, we are united by our understanding that annexation would be disastrous for Israel—for a number of reasons. The annexations discussed by Netanyahu and provided for under the Trump plan would include all Israeli settlements and much of the Jordan Valley, which makes up nearly 30% of the West Bank and contains its most fertile land. It will also further entrench the ongoing military control of Palestinian territory, its airspace, and its territorial waters.¹ These acts will make the creation of a negotiated, independent Palestinian state alongside Israel virtually impossible, leaving Palestinians with tiny, non-contiguous islands of territory over which they do not have true sovereignty. It is not clear that the annexationists have any intention of extending full citizenship to the millions of Palestinians living inside and between the enclaves annexed by Israel.

If this annexation plan succeeds, Israel is likely to face a future of escalating conflict and unrest, in which it permanently governs over millions of Palestinians without equal rights or protections. That is not democracy, nor is it a solution to the conflict. Instead, it is an extreme vision for a state permanently at odds with its neighbors and increasingly detached even from its allies. That is not what Israel's founders envisioned when they drafted a declaration of independence that promised equal rights to all.

As we make Shabbat over Zoom, learn to bake challah at home, comfort those who are sick and in mourning, and find other ways of preserving our Jewish community in this challenging time, we must not remain silent in the face of this impending crisis for Israel. As young Jewish Americans who care deeply about Israel's future as a democracy and a homeland for the Jewish people, and are committed to defending the rights of Israelis and Palestinians, we are determined to mobilize against Trump and Netanyahu's disastrous annexation plans before July 1, and we ask all of our communities and their leaders to join us. We need you to take action—before it is too late.
