

LUCHA (c) 4 Mission:

Living United for Change in Arizona (LUCHA) organizes low- and moderate-income and minority families to take action on the issues most important to them and advance the cause of social and economic justice for all. Working in collaboration with our sister organization, ACE, LUCHA incorporates leadership development with grassroots issue-based campaigns, advocacy and civic engagement, to create an Arizona in which every resident has an equal voice in determining the policies and shaping the decision-making bodies that will govern our communal life.

ACE (c) 3 Mission:

Arizona Center for Empowerment is a community-led and driven organization committed to raising new leadership in Arizona through confronting the most pressing needs of its often-underserved communities. ACE understands that the only way to create positive change that citizens can see, taste, and touch, is to drive tangible results through people-centered, metrics-driven campaigns and programs. Through civic engagement and strategic efforts regarding issues such as immigration, voting rights, living wages, and education, ACE has, since its inception, dedicated its efforts to consistently listen and respond to the immediate and long-term needs of those it seeks to represent.

LUCHA Values statement

LUCHA is an organization led by changemakers fighting for social, racial and economic transformation. We are committed to human dignity, inclusion, equity and collective growth. We work to reclaim our shared power alongside our families and community.

Membership:

A community member who challenges, empowers and educates her/his/their community to bring about social change and economic justice in Arizona.
